

Dr. Thomas Gstädtner is the President of the Supervisory Board, European Banking Institute (EBI). He has been working at the European Central Bank since May 2014 as Head of Division in DG SIB. His department is responsible for supervising 3 globally significant institutions within the Eurozone. In addition, Dr. Gstädtner is Head of the Country Coordination Team for the French Banks under ECB Supervision. Before the ECB, Dr. Gstädtner worked for Deutsche Bank AG London in different managerial positions, his last position being Head of Legal/Regulatory Change Management. Prior to that, he was General Counsel in an asset management company and an associate in a law firm in Munich. Dr. Gstädtner is a qualified lawyer in Germany and solicitor in England/Wales. Dr. Gstädtner is also President of the European Banking Institute's Supervisory Board.